LOVE, THE PILGRIM.

Suggested by a Sketch by E. Burne-Jones.

By HAMILTON AIDE.

VERY day a Pilgrim, blindfold,
When the night and morning meet,
Entereth the slumbering city,
Stealeth down the silent street; Lingereth round some battered doorway, Leaves unblest some portal grand, Leaves unblest some pottal grant and the walls, where sleep the children, Toucheth with his warm young hand. Love is passing? Love is passing!—
Passing while ye lie asleep:
In your blessed dreams, O children,
Give him all your hearts to keep!

Blindfold is this Pilgrim, Maiden.
Though to-day he touched thy door, He may pass it by to-morrow-Pass it—to return no more.

Let us then with prayers entreat him—Youth! her heart, whose coldness grieves.

May one morn by Love be softened;

Define the treeurs that he leaves. Prize the treasure that he leaves. passing? Love is passing! All, with hearts to hope and pray, Bid this pilgrim touch the lintels

THE CREWS OF TWO VESSELS ARE SAVED

Driven Ashore On the Virginia Coast By Monday's Storm.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFOLK, VA., Sept. 5.-Two crews were rescued from their vessels night be fore last, by life-savers on the Virginia coast, but the news did not reach here till this morning, because the wires of the Sea Coast telegraph were down. The steamship Aragon, Capt. Blake, of New York, was towing the barge Saxon from Georgetown, S. C., to New York by way of Norfolk, both lumber laden, when they went ashore two miles south of Faise Cape, on the Virginia coast. The Aragon and her tow were caught in a severe storm on Sunday night, when the hawser drawing the Saxon became entangled in the Aragon's propeller disabling her and leaving both vessels at the mercy of the wind and the waves. Both were driven ashore. The life-suvers of the stations nearby rescued the crews from both vessels and are caring for them till the fate of the vessels can be determined. Things Warm for Them.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LYNCHBURG. VA., September 5.—The grand jury which was convened at the opening of the September term of the Corporation Court this morning returned sixteen indictments, three of which are for alleged criminal assault. The majority of them are for malicious assaults. This is one of the largest day's work a Lynchburg grand jury has had to do for years.

The case against Raleigh B. Dawson, of Pittsylvania county, who is charged with making several attempts to criminally assault Bessie Shelton, a deaf and dumb girl of fifteen, here last June, is set for hearing to-morrow. Dawson will be represented by John F. Rison, of Chatham, a well-known criminal lawyer. Professor W. A. Bowles, the head of the Deaf, Dumb and Bilind Institute, where the prosecutrix attended school, has been summoned to act as interpretes of the girl's evidence. Most of the witnesses for the Commonwealth are from Pittsylvania county.

C. F. Allen, who was indicted to-day for alleged assault on Susie Dunkley, a 10-year-old girl, two weeks ago, will have counsel assigned to him to-morrow and his case will finen be set for hearing.
